

That Richard Dawkins...

That Richard Dawkins – he’s brilliant isn’t he? He wrote like that book the God Deflation. He’s like maximum clever and intelligent and like – really cool, he’s like well cleverer than God, isn’t he? I mean he can understand more than God, can’t he? He’s like not God himself, cause he reckons there is no God, but if there was a God and Dawkins was wrong, well, that’d be brilliant cause God would be Dawkins. Cause Dawkins is cleverer than God. And that would be like... awsomeazing.

And his book’s like the most intelligent book on the planet, haven’t read it, but it really is. It’s like the internet and Wikipedia all rolled into one. Unlike the Bible which is a sort of like duh... I don’t think so...kind of book. I mean Moses and Abraham how could they build that ark cause it was like before power saws and Black and Dekker and stuff was invented. And how could Adam and Eve make the world from nothing without like a kit or an instruction book or anything. So it’s obviously like the whole book is ... ‘I don’t think so’... like how could St Paul write letters when they didn’t do no texting. It’s so obvious that it’s all rubbish. I mean I haven’t read it or nothing, but that’s even better cause why would you when it’s so rubbish and makes no sense and it’s just brainwashing and the first page and the last page all contradict each other and there’s just lots of fighting and killing and it doesn’t even mention Richard Dawkins and if I was God I’d have like Dawkins right up there with St Pancreas cause he’s as good as any saint. And the Bible’s all not true and the Dawkins Deflation is clearly everything.
